

English

The fifth graders read stories they wrote and eat candy in Mr. Birchmeier's language arts class.

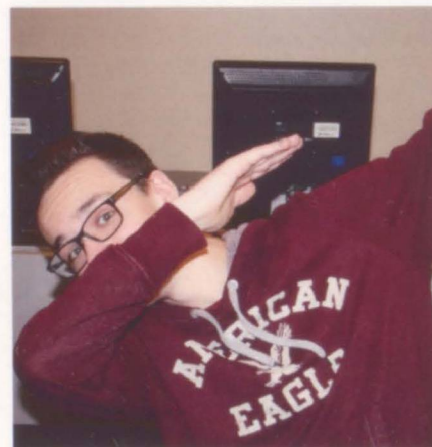

Jade Saylor uses her concentration skills to get her work done so she can go back to class.

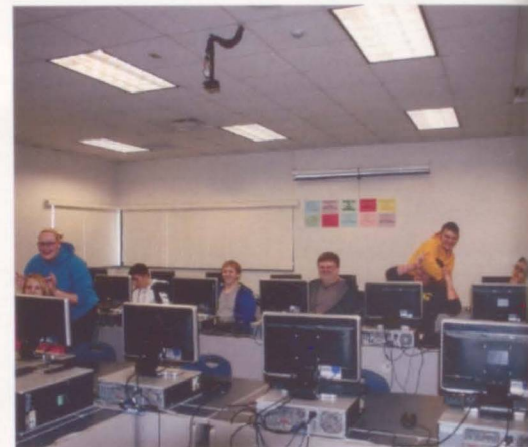

Right: Caitlin Thompson and Tristan Densmore read their AR books in the reading lounge in Mrs. Flowers' classroom.

Sam Spooner enjoys working in the computer lab for English.

Tyler Cordray should be working on his English assignment but he can't resist the opportunity to dab for the camera.

Some of the juniors and seniors ham it up for the camera while working in the computer lab.

The 7th graders work hard on their poetry vocabulary, they create color coded flip-grams to help them study for their poetry unit test.

The freshman class is working hard on an assignment given to them by Mr. Melville.

The 7th grade students take their time to vote on the best persuasive writing project in class.