

More than Students

Tackling Career Skills

Ashley High School students have the opportunity to attend Voc Ed. and practice real life job skills while training for a career that interests them. Several students participate in classes that teach hands-on skills in the professions of welding, nursing, criminal justice and mechanical engineering.

Above: Ryan, Chaz, Shelly, Shannon, Austin I, Jerry and Bailey practice the skills learned in their courses to help them graduate on a path of career readiness.
