

More than athletics

After a full day at school, many students head off to practice. Ashley student athletes are dedicated to their sports. This year marked the last season of 12 man football for Ashley. After a demanding season, the boys finished with their heads held high and excited to tackle reorganizing as an 8 man team next fall. Cheerleading was brought back for the first time in several years. Many of the girls on the cheerleading squad pulled double duty as members of the volleyball teams as well. The boy's varsity basketball team had an incredible season and finished third in the conference and moved on to districts. Fox Sports Detroit traveled to Ashley to interview the team to spotlight on their show. As soon as basketball ends students dust off their gloves and grab their cleats as baseball and softball seasons stretch on through the remainder of the school year. Many students opt to play co-op sports at nearby schools as well. It's not uncommon to spot an Ashley student playing soccer or wrestling over at Ovid-Elsie. Our athletes' determination can only be described as more than words can say.

Reach for the Win

The Ashley baseball and softball teams finally get a chance to play in nice weather after an April full of cold temperatures, ice and snow. Senior Chaz Polash reaches out to stop a Merrill player from tagging first base.

Compete With All Your Heart

Ashley high school students are true competitors. Matt Mulholland and Doug Gavenda race towards the finish line. Karlie Howe keeps her eye on the ball while at bat. The girl's varsity basketball team appears calm and ready while standing for the national anthem.
